I feel there is NO NEED TO PUSH DIGITAL TV on the public because existing analog broadcast quality is entirely adequate, well engineered and affordable. How many viewers want to go out and spend significant money to replace existing sets for ZERO gain?
In addition, the quality of content is so low, on average, that there is no incentive to change.....who wants even more channels of commercials and junk?